Is Life Worth Living?

That depends upon the Liver. If the Liver is inactive the whole system is out of order—the breath is bad, digestion poor, head dull or aching, energy and hopefulness gone, the spirit is depressed, a heavy weight exists after eating, with general despondency and the blues. The Liver is the housekeeper of the health; and a harmless, simple remedy that acts like Nature, does not constipate afterwards or require constant taking, does not interfere with business or pleasure during its use, makes Simmons Liver Regulator a medical perfection.

I have tested its virtues personally, and know that for Dyspepsia, Biliousness and Throbbing Headache, it is the best medicine the world ever saw. Have tried forty other remedies before Simmons Liver Regulator, and none of them gave more than temporary relief, but the Regulator not only relieved but cured.

PHOTOGRAPHING ASTEROIDS.

How Photography Has Come to the Aid of the Enthusiastic Astronomer.

The Boston Scientific society has held a meeting of unusual interest, at which S. C. Chandler, the eminent astronomer, gave the first public presentation of the remarkable work now being done by Max Wolf at Heidelberg.

He said: "The position of asteroids in astronomical science is a peculiar, and I might say practically a useless one, so far as tangible results from their discovery are concerned. The discovery of a new comet is a matter of great importance, and the increase in their number contributes much to the knowledge of the science, but with asteroids, they must be found in large numbers before they become of especial significance, and in that event it has always been a debated question whether the immense amount of labor required in keeping track of them and performing the necessary computation is really worth the while when the actual results obtained are so small.

"There are known to exist by the thousands and tens of thousands down to the size of an ordinary rock, and to collate and preserve the knowledge obtained of them as fast as discovered has been a difficulty well nigh insurmountable.

"But the development of photography in connection with telescopy has seemed to open up an opportunity for accomplishing something in this line. If certain whole strips of the heavens could be tracked and a record kept of the observations, a long step would be taken in solving this problem. Apropos of this matter, young Max Wolf, of Heidelberg, has been making some very unique discoveries.

"He uses a small telescope of 6-inch aperture, and has devised a piece of mechanism by which he can not only follow the heavens for a number of hours together, but can put away the plate, take it the next night and continue the record consecutively from the point where he left off. This continual exposure of the same glass night after night has hitherto been regarded as impossible, and Wolf was scoffed at when he attempted it, but he has succeeded nevertheless. By this process he has been enabled to discover asteroids by observing their motions.

"Moreover, he does not use clockwork. His plates are exposed, and he keeps his instrument fixed for hours together on a given point by means of a subsidiary telescope. In this way he has discovered seven new asteroids and found between thirty and forty old ones, and thinks also that he has discovered a new comet, though that has not been fully demonstrated as yet.

"He has also discovered the tracks of meteors and has found a succession of variations of their light by means of duplicate impressions with different telescopes, recording five or six distinct oscillations in brightness. His duplicate impressions agree perfectly. Wolf is now trying to find the companion of Algol."—Boston Advertiser.

Mourning Colors.

Ecclesiastical colors include all the primary colors and black and white, which are used at various church offices. The cardinals of the Roman church have adopted scarlet as their color, which was originally red. In ancient Rome the occupation and rank of many people were made known by the colors of the garments which they wore. Black is in common use among us for mourning, but the Chinese wear white, the Turks wear violet, and in Ethiopia brown is the proper hue.

White was originally the mourning color in some European countries, but black is generally accepted now. Different colors have frequently been adopted by opposing parties, and the colors of various nations are incorporated in their flags, for instance the "red, white and blue" of the United States.—Harper's Young People.

A Bear Climbing a Tree.

Even professional taxidermists sometimes make blunders in their work. A funny instance of lack of thought by an animal stuffer is to be seen in a show window of a Broadway cloakmaker, where there is a dead polar bear in the act of climbing a tree.

Thousands of persons pass that bear every day, and it is safe to say that not one in a million ever sees how untrue to nature it is for a polar bear to climb a tree.

There aren't any trees in the polar regions where the white bear comes from. Perhaps the bears would learn to climb them if there were.—New York Herald.

Schools and the French Army.

The total expenditure for normal schools in France was, in 1872, near $11,000,000; at present it is upward of $25,000,000, or an increase of 127 per cent. The French republic has spent and is still spending untold millions upon the army and navy. But on account of that it does not forget the school. And without a doubt the republican school will outlive the republican army and be a blessing to all generations to come, for knowledge makes us free.—Chicago Herald.

Bombay's Water Works.

The Tansa water works for the supply of Bombay were only completed after very great physical difficulties had been overcome. The work involved the construction of a masonry dam two miles long to form a lake of nearly six square miles in area. There are fifty-two miles of ducts, twenty-seven miles of iron mains, four miles of tunnel and nearly a mile of iron girder bridges.—New York Times.

Bows and Arrows in a Modern Battle.

Many readers will be as much surprised as I was in learning that at the battle of Leipsic the Russians brought into the field numbers of Baskir Tartars who were armed only with bows and arrows. So we read in General Marbot's "Memoirs," written by himself. The general was himself wounded by an arrow in the battle.—Notes and Queries.

A Petrified Body.

While prospecting at Creede, Colonel J. J. Dore unearthed the body of a petrified man. A rainstorm had washed away the dirt, leaving the feet exposed. The petrifaction weighed 400 pounds.

The body is about six feet long, and in life would probably weigh 160 or 170 pounds. The hands are crossed on the breast and the lower limbs straightened out. The top of the head has the appearance of having been scalped, and there is on the surface what appears to be a wound caused by some heavy blunt instrument, and from which the brains of the man oozed out.

The throat is cut, a heavy gash extending clear across and close up under the chin. There is also a gash about an inch long on the right wrist. The hands are perfect. The creases in the skin and the nails look as natural as life. The eyebrows are also very clearly defined. The muscles of the arms and legs denote that the man when alive was an athlete, inured to hard work and exposure. The body is a bluish gray and is as hard as a rock.

The news of the find soon spread over the town, and large numbers visited it. Dore soon concluded he had a pretty good thing and charged an admission fee of twenty-five cents. The generally accepted belief is that the petrified remains are of some unfortunate prospector who in the early days of Colorado was killed and scalped by the Indians.—Cleveland Press.

Canals Run by Electricity.

There have been many propositions for the disposal of the Ohio canals, but the one contemplating the use of electricity as the motive power, the same as is used for street cars, is considered the most practical, and it is certainly one of the most novel suggestions of the times. It has been proposed at times to abandon the canals and sell them out for the right of way to railroads. At other times it has been proposed to widen them so as to make it possible to convey ships from the great system of lakes to the great system of river navigation that could be reached from the Ohio river.

If poles are stretched along the canals the same as they are now along the street railways and a rapid transit established from Cleveland to Portsmouth, it would certainly be a great invention, and the public works of the state would become a formidable rival of the railroads. A rapid system of navigation from Duluth to New Orleans may be among the possibilities of the future, and if such is the case the system of great lakes and the Mississippi river and its contributaries will be connected by an electric canal system through the state of Ohio. What a time that would be for excursions!—Columbus Journal.

A Clever Chinee.

A Chinese jeweler has come to town and established himself in Mott street. His tools of trade are so simple that a native craftsman would hardly be able to accomplish anything at all with them. They consist of a tiny anvil, several little hammers, a pair of pinchers and a few graving tools.

His work, though rough, is artistic.

He would probably send the works of a watch to the eternal bowwows if he attempted to repair them, but when it comes to getting striking effects out of unpromising material he can't be beaten. For the small sum of seventy-five cents he will take a half dollar and in a few hours hammer it into a dainty silver ring, with pleasing Chinese sentiments engraved all over it.

The smaller silver coins he molds into heads of demons and genii for charms and scarfpins.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

An Historic Mansion Going.

The old Maupay mansion, on Germantown avenue, at Rising Sun, which has been an object of interest for many years, is being torn down to make room for improvements. The mansion was built before the Revolutionary war by Samuel Maupay, and is said to have been used for quarters by the Continental troops. Maupay came from Germany, and the sons devoted themselves to gardening, and for a long time the place was known as "Maupay's nurseries." It was laid out in beautiful walks and ornamented with flower beds and shrubbery. There is hardly an old farmer in the lower part of Montgomery county to whom the nurseries were not familiar. With the destruction of the old house departs the last and crowning glory of old "Rising Sun park."—Philadelphia Press

A WAIL FROM WALL STREET.

A wail is going up from Wall Street regarding the condition of the National Treasury. The New York Post expresses alarm because there is only a Treasury balance of $14,000,000 in excess of the $100,000,000 gold in reserve for the redemption of outstanding Treasury notes. It directs attention to the fact that the balance was $30,000,000 in January, $19,000,000 in May and $14,000,000 June 1st.

Wall Street has been conducting the affairs of the Treasury for years. Its influence has permeated every department of the Government. It directs the financial affairs of the nation, whether the Administration is Democratic or Republican. Cleveland was its agent fully as much as Harrison, and Blaine bid for a position in its service when he wrote that letter to McKinley. They have but themselves to blame if the gold in the Treasury is reduced to $14,000,000. That was what they predicted would result from free coinage, yet it is taking place with the mints closed against silver, and it now looks as if free coinage is the only thing that can prevent the drain of gold from the Treasury.

The Sherman Commodity Act is doing what its framer, Honest John, designed it for. Only a Wall Street syndicate can dispose of silver bullion to the Government. The producer, owing to secret arrangements between the Treasury agents and the syndicate, is denied the privelege of selling bullion to the Government. The bullion is paid for in special Treasury notes, which the syndicate does not put in circulation. No person in Nevada or the West ever sees any of those notes, unless possibly bankers. They are presented at the Treasury and redeemed in gold. This accounts in a great measure for the steady decline in the gold surplus of which the Wall Street paper complains. Senator Stewart predicted a few weeks ago in a speech in the Senate that the Commodity Act would take all the gold out of the Treasury except, perhaps, the $100,000,000 reserved for the redemption of the greenbacks. It is greatly to be hoped that his prediction will be verified and that the condition of affairs which Wall Street asserts will result from free coinage will be brought about by Wall Street methods. Nearly every standard dollar in the Treasury is represented in the circulating medium of the country by silver notes, which are redeemable in silver dollars. The Treasury Department, therefore, has for an excuse in not redeeming the Treasury notes issued in payment for silver bullion in standard dollars that there are no standard dollars available for the purpose. If the gold was exhausted there would be some satisfaction in having the coinage of silver dollars, which is now about suspended, resumed for the purpose of redeeming the special Treasury notes paid out for silver bullion, and compelling the syndicate, which sells such bullion to to the Government, to put the notes which it receives in circulation or accept standard dollars for them when presented for redemption.

THE OREGON ELECTION AND ITS LESSON.

The complete returns from the Oregon election are not received but enough is known to show a large falling off in the Republican majority from two years ago. The Democratic party in its blind adoration of Cleveland, refused to put a free silver coinage plank in its platform and lost thousands of votes by not doing so. Governor Pennoyer, who was elected on a free coinage platform declined to assist the Democrats in the campaign, because, as he expressed it, "they knocked the plank on which he was elected from under his feet," and advised the silver Democrats and Republicans to organize the People's party. Though late in the campaign many took his advice and the new party polled ten or twelve thousand votes in the State, and reduced Hermann's majority of 9,913, two years ago to 3,000 or less. In Coos and Josephine counties, the People's party put full tickets in the field. In Josephine county the people elected several county officers and a member of the Legislature and in Coos county the people made a clean sweep electing every officer except the Assessor, whose name did not appear on the ticket. Congressman Hermann resides in Coos county, which two years ago gave him 500 majority. Last Monday, Rork, the People's party candidate, carried the county by a small majority over Hermann.

This change in Oregon, in many sections of which the People's party had no organization, indicates what the people can and will do when aroused. In two or three counties there has been a complete revolution equal in fact to what has taken place throughout Kansas and Nebraska. That a majority of the people are disgusted with boss rule, which is but another name for misrule, and needs only organization to free themselves from the thraldom of the politicians, there is no doubt whatever. In Nevada and other States such organization is being perfected as will make itself felt on election day. There is as great necessity for reform in the legislative methods of Nevada, as there is in the financial methods of the National Government, and if the respectable element of the State, is true to itself in the coming campaign, when it is hoped through the Australian ballot system, an intelligent citizen's vote cannot be offset by a two-and-a-half piece, men will be elected to enact our laws who will inaugurate these reforms, and show their respect for the popular will by obeying the mandates of the majority.

THE MINNEAPOLIS CONVENTION.

The convention at Minneapolis adjourned at an early hour yesterday until 8 o'clock last evening, at which time the Committee on Credentials submitted majority and minority reports. The majority report was favorable to Harrison, and it was combatted by the Blaine men but adopted nevertheless.

Last night an official notice was issued from Harrison headquarters stating that at a meeting it was demonstrated by the unanimous expression of a large majority of the delegates that President Harrison is their choice and that his supporters will at no time consider the claims of any other candidate.

If this report which is said to be official is verified, the magnetic man from Maine will end his political career by defeat in a convention of his party, many leaders of which endeavor to create the impression that the people idolize Mr. Blaine.

McKinley, Chairman of the convention, gives it as his opinion that Harrison will be nominated on the first ballot, and all reports from Minneapolis, except the highly colored ones, seem to confirm his opinion.

It looks as if Harrison would be the choice of the convention.

MINNEAPOLIS CONVENTION

A Majority Claimed by the Harrison Men.

NOT A BALLOT YET TAKEN.

Everything Indicates Harrison — The Platform—Governor McKinley the Favorite Dark Horse.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 9.—The convention called to order at 8:50. Congratulations were extended to Colonel Dick Thompson of Indiana on his 83d birthday. Adjourned until 8 P. M.

Upon reassembling last evening majority and minority reports from the Committee on Credentials were submitted. The majority report is a gain of twelve votes for Harrison. The first contest in the convention occurred on the adoption of the report, the Harrison men favoring the majority and the Blaine men the minority report. There was some question as to whether the sitting members should be permitted to vote on their cases, some contending that they should not be judges, and others that they were entitled to vote until unseated.

THE PLATFORM.

The Old Gold Bug Slightly Disguised.

The Committee on Resolutions presented a platform, which says:

THE TARIFF.

We maintain that the prosperous condition of the country is largely due to the wise revenue legislation of a Republican Congress. We believe that all articles which cannot be produced in the United States, except luxuries, should be admitted free of duty, and that on all imports coming into competition with the products of American labor, there should be duties levied equal to the difference between wages abroad and at home.

We assert that the prices of manufactured articles of general consumption have been reduced under the Tariff Act of 1890.

The efforts of the Democratic majority in the House of Representatives to destroy our tariff laws piece-meal is denounced, and we ask the people for their judgment thereon.

The success of the reciprocity plans is pointed to and the people reminded that the Democrats bitterly opposed this practical business measure. We claim that under a Republican Administration our laws will eventually give us control of the trade of the world.

THE SILVER PLANK.

The Republican party demands the use of both gold and silver as standard money, with such restrictions and under such provisions, to be determined by legislation, as will secure the maintenance of the parity of values of the two metals so that the purchasing and debt paying power of a dollar, whether silver, gold or paper, shall be at all times equal.

The action of the Government to secure an International Monetary Conference is commended.

THE FREE BALLOT.

This platform demands that every citizen shall be allowed to cast a free and unrestricted ballot in all public elections and that such ballot shall be counted and returned as cast. The enactment and enforcement of a law that will secure this sovereign right to every citizen is demanded, and the party will never relapse its efforts until the purity of elections shall be protected in every State.

Political outrages in the Southern States is denounced.

FOREIGN RELATIONS.

The platform favors the extension of foreign commerce; restoration of mercantile marine, by home built ships, and the creation of a navy for the protection of our national interests and honor to our flag; the maintenance of friendly relations with all foreign powers and entangling alliances with none; approval of the Monroe Doctrine is reaffirmed; the enactment of more stringent laws for the restriction of criminal pauper and contract immigrants is favored.

Legislation is recommended irrespective of States, that will protect employes engaged in State commerce, mining and manufacturing; also legislation by Congress for the safety of those employed in inter-State commerce.

SYMPATHY FOR THE PERSECUTED.

The cause of Home Rule in Ireland is endorsed, and a protest is made against the persecution of the Jews in Russia, while insisting on the fullest measure of religious liberty, and are opposed to any union of church and State.

Opposition to combinations of capital to arbitrarily control the conditions of trade, is reaffirmed, and such further legislation as may be necessary to prevent this is asked.

The policy of a free postal delivery in villages, towns and rural communities is approved and the reduction of letter postage to one cent, at the earliest possible moment, is pledged.

Civil service reform is recommended.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL

Should be constructed as a measure of National defense, and to build up and maintain American commerce, and should be constructed by the United States Government.

The admission of the remaining Territories to the Union is favored; also the appointment of Federal officers who are bona fide residents of the Territories which they govern.

ARID LANDS.

The platform favors the cession of arid public lands to the States and Territories in which they lie.

The Columbian Exposition is endorsed and Congress should promptly enact such legislation as will insure the discharging of the expense incident thereto.

We sympathize with all wise and legitimate efforts to lessen and prevent evils of intemperance and promote morality.

The party pledges anew watchful care over veteran soldiers, and concludes:

THE ADMINISTRATION ENDORSED.

We commend the able, patriotic and thoroughly American Administration of President Harrison. Under it the country has enjoyed remarkable prosperity. The dignity and honor of the Nation at home and abroad have been faithfully maintained and we offer the record of pledges kept as a guarantee of faithful performance in the future.

The Test Vote.

When Chairman Osgoswell moved that the majority report be adopted he was loudly cheered by Harrison delegates, and when Chairman Filley of Missouri moved that the minority report be adopted the applause which followed from Blaine delegates told the galleries that the long expected fight between the Blaine and Harrison forces was on. The chief point on Filley's argument in behalf of the minority report was that the regular organization of the party in the Alabama case has been barred from the regular place meeting by the United States Marshal, but Massey of Delaware maintained that the case was considered fairly upon its merits and that the report should be adopted. Knight of California spoke warmly in favor of the minority report.

B. H. Bathea of Illinois followed Knight and made allusions of a derogatory nature to the people of the section from which the contest came. It was a bad break and a large number of gallery occupants hissed, and someone cried "Down." Bathea became rattled at the reception the remark received.

The Chairman of the Credentials Committee moved that the majority report be adopted. It was argued pro and con by the leaders. It was finally moved to adopt the minority report. Depew asked that a test case be made of Alabama. This being the first vote of the convention and on an important issue was considered a relative test. The Blaine men voted for the minority report and the Harrison men against it. The vote finally taken was upon Alabama alone. It resulted in the following vote. For, 424; against, 463. This was a Harrison victory. However, of the 463 votes there are a number who are not for Harrison for President, so his strength is insufficient to nominate him on the first ballot. In the vote California was 10 for and 8 against; Nevada, 6 for; Colorado, 8 for; Indiana, 20 against; New York, 45 for, 27 against. These States voted in their respective strength and is fairly indicative of the strength of the two men. On the completion of the vote a motion to adjourn was lost.

The vote on the adoption of the majority report in the Alabama case was, 476 for and 365 against.

Foraker stepped to the platform to present the resolutions and platform and the convention adjourned before he proceeded. Adjourned until 11 A. M. to-morrow.

FRANTIC POLITICAL ACTIVITY.

The Delegates Divided Into Three Factions.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 9.—The hour for street parades or exuberant demonstrations in the hotel corridors has passed, and has been succeeded by an era of silent, almost frantic activity. Both parties seem to realize that the faction which fights for further delay will become unpopular and be carried down by the tide. At no time since the convention opened have the demands for a compromise candidate been so expressed as to-day, and it may be said the convention is divided into three elements, Administration, people's and Blaine forces, and the conservative element who are demanding success, and insisting that the leading candidates find a way to some one who can carry the party to victory in November. The favorite compromise candidate whose name is on every lip to night is Governor McKinley of Ohio.

Harrison Men Claim a Majority.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 9.—Official notice was issued from headquarters to-night saying that it was demonstrated by the unanimous expression of a large majority of the delegates at a meeting, that President Harrison is their choice. The notice also declares that the supporters of his candidacy will not participate in an effort to reverse this judgment. At no time will any other candidate be considered by them.

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines. Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom. Peculiar in its strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "One Hundred Doses One Dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Peculiar in its medicinal merits, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered."

Is Peculiar to Itself

Peculiar in its "good name at home,"—there is now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers. Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has over attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly.

Do not be induced to buy other preparations, but be sure to get the Peculiar Medicine,

In conversation with a gentleman from Lovelock, the JOURNAL reporter was informed that the hay crop is ready to harvest, that it is the best for years and stands fully two feet and a half feet high and thick as the hair on a dog's back. He says the entire country presents a pretty appearance and that business is lively.

There will be interesting exercises at Bishop Whitaker's School for Girls commencing next Monday and Tuesday. Wednesday diplomas will be conferred at Trinity Church by Bishop Leonard, and in the evening the rehearsal of the Music Department will take place at the Opera House. Patrons of the school and the public generally are invited.

James R. Harvey of Paradise Valley who has been one of the most energetic and uncompromising Republicans in Humboldt has renounced his allegiance to Wall Street and joined the Silver League. Mr. Harvey has attended several Republican State conventions as a delegate, and nearly always had his own way in county conventions, and the Silver State cordially welcomes him to the ranks of the independent voters.

A correspondent of the Silver State says the remains of the old soldiers buried at Fort McDermit, now abandoned by the military, are being disinterred for the purpose of transferring them to the National Cemetery at the Presidio, San Francisco. There are also some soldiers buried at Camp McGarry in Humboldt and Camp Smith in Southeastern Oregon, and they will also be removed.

Bishop Whitaker's School—Announcement.

The patrons of the school and citizens generally are cordially invited to attend the closing exercises, which are as follows:

Monday evening, June 13th, beginning at 7:30, essays, music, etc. in the gymnasium, followed by the reunion of the Alumnae.

THE STATE UNIVERSITY.

The Fourth Annual Commencement Exercises.

It is with great pride that the citizens of Nevada see yearly sent forth from the portals of the State University a class of bright, intelligent and ambitious young Nevadans. No institution that Nevada possesses has more to do with the future destiny of the State than the University, which adorns the brow of the hill overlooking the pretty city of Reno.

THE RAPID ADVANCEMENT

Made by the institution is a source of much self congratulation to the friends of learning in this State. But five years ago the present school began its fight. Then only a half completed building stood forth as the embryo of the present flourishing institution. A President and faculty of two with a small number of students have steadily increased until to-day there is a faculty of twelve or more and nearly two hundred students. Then the half completed building stood in a desert waste with but a bridle path leading over the rough brow of the hill to the doors that stood ready to receive the troop of ambitions and aspiring Nevada youth. To-day four large imposing brick buildings grace the hill and look down on Reno. A broad drive way leads up the hill to the velvety lawns, many flourishing young trees adorn the grounds, and walks and drives wisely laid out make the surroundings those of beauty and a place well fitted for a seat of learning.

The rapid advancement of the University is but a precursor of its future success. It is admirably adapted to the needs of the State. Four classes have now gone forth to battle with life. The Normal graduates have all given signal success, and the able manner in which they have managed the schools in this State recommend them as the equal of any outside talent that from time to time is being imported. The business graduates all command confidence. The Liberal Art graduates to-day all occupy positions of responsibility. It is eminently a home institution for the encouragement of home talent, for the purpose of supplying material for home positions. Even the most sanguine friends of California institutions must admit the superiority of our school.

Commencement week is fast becoming one of the events of the year in Reno. Being the school center of the State, with an excellently well equipped Public School, a Seminary for young ladies with a coast reputation, and with the University as the exponent of higher education, commencement week naturally attracts people from all portions of the State.

EXERCISES AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

The Opera House, where the exercises were held, was filled to its utmost seating capacity long before the appointed hour. The stage was handsomely decorated with flowers and plants that added greatly to to the cheerfulness of the scene. A banner on the left side of the stage with the Normal's motto "We study for light to bless with light" unfurled its silken folds to the view of the audience, while on the right hand side hung a shield with the words "Labor wins the laurel," as the Business Class' motto. The seats on the stage were arranged in a semi-circle for the faculty and the graduates.

Shortly after 2 o'clock President Jones appeared, followed by Governor R. K. Colcord, Attorney General Torreyson, Regent Fish, Superintendent of Public Instruction Ring, with the faculty coming in in the following order: Miss H. K. Clapp, Professors Walter Miller, Robert Lewers, McDowell, Jackson, Wilson, Thurtell, Hillman, Phillips and Lieutenant Neal and Professor Brown. The Normal class, led by Mrs. Mary W. Emory, then took seats on the left. The members of the class were Miss Stella Ede, Miss Nellie May Ede, Miss Margarett Mayberry and Miss Clara Taylor. Following the Normals came the Business Class, consisting of Miss Ida Sauer, A. Ward, Miss Florence Abrahams, A. Robinson, Miss Cora Larsen and Clarence Larsen.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

The overture was a pleasing selection, after which President Jones stepped to the front of the stage, and in a happy and appropriate speech welcomed the audience. Among other things, he said: "We hope and trust that the seeds to-day sown may ripen into a bountiful harvest. Nothing is perfect, and everything may have imperfections. While imperfections may have existed in the work of the past year, we are certain they have been few. The faithful work of the Regents, faculty and students we only hope will be improved next year." After a hearty welcome he announced the

COMMERCIAL PROGRAMME

And the first speaker, Clarence Larsen, who took as the subject of his oration, "Free Coinage." Mr. Larsen spoke most intelligently and eloquently on this all absorbing topic. He reviewed the history of the question, and as a young man spoke most warmly in its behalf. He was greeted with prolonged applause at the close of his oration.

Miss Ida Saeur took as her text "The Columbian Exposition." Miss Saeur spoke of the great work, and dwelt at length on the prominent part that the ladies of America had taken in the Exposition, and of the talents and abilities of the lady architects and artists that will work an era in woman's advancement in the Nineteenth Century. She closed with a glowing tribute to Columbus and Queen Isabella. Her remarks were both happy and appropriate, and were enthusiastically received. She was the recipient of a number of very handsome floral pieces.

The orchestra then gave another selection.

Albert Weston Ward then delivered a thoughtfully written oration on "Money." He stated that money was a subject concerning which there was a great misconception. He explained with the ease of a financier the terms supply, demand and value. Money is a medium of exchange for property. Society computes by money the value of genius. He gave an interesting history of money, taking the old forms of exchange such as skins and shells, and with the better organizing of society and the increase of commerce he reviewed the modern article of money. The oration was well received and like the preceding speakers he received a number of beautiful floral pieces. A selection from the orchestra closed the Commercial Department program.

THE NORMAL PROGRAM.

President Jones introduced as the first representative of the of the Normal Department Miss Estella Ede, who delivered an oration on "Shams." The oration was a most unique and original production. It displayed deep thought on the part of Miss Ede, and was highly appreciated by an interested audience. The faultless and forcible delivery added much to its effectiveness. It was a keen satire that would have done credit to a Juvenal or Butler. It was the gem of the day and not only were the keen hits greeted with applause, but it received a well deserved ovation at the close.

Miss May Ede followed with an oration on "Gymnastics."

Miss Margarett Mayberry then sang "Queen of the World." It was beautifully rendered and was greeted with enthusiastic applause.

Miss Clara Taylor in a sweet and clear voice delivered an oration, the subject being "Let the Blind See." It was an exceedingly well written oration. It was a clear presentation of a most beautiful theme in the hands of a young lady whose kind ways and well-known ability made the essay both in thought and delivery the gem that it was. The oration was greeted with great applause.

After a selection by the orchestra the diplomas were presented.

At the close of the exercises the friends of the graduates gathered about the stage and tendered congratulations on their successful work and their well delivered orations. This closed the afternoon exercises.

LIBERAL ARTS DEPARTMENT.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather there was a large crowd to attend the evening exercises which were devoted to the Collegiate Department of the University. The usual large crowd of friends filled the Opera House. The music was all that could be desired, and served as a variety between the literary exercises.

The curtain rose at 8 o'clock upon a very pretty scene. Arranged in a semi-circle, were the Regents and faculty and graduates. President Jones was seated in the center of the group. Beginning on the right hand were Governor R. K. Colcord, General Torreyson, Professors Miller, McDowell, Brown, Wilson, Cowgill, Thurtell, Superintendent Ring, Judge Bigelow, Robert Lewers, Lieutenant Neall, Miss H. K. Clapp, Dr. Phillips and Professor Jackson. Then the graduates, four in number, on the extreme left. Ferns, snowballs, flowers and pot-plants, were artistically arranged on the extreme front of the stage. On the curtains at the rear of the stage was a most beautiful floral symbol, the gift of Miss Kate Lewers. It consisted of a large scythe, pick and shovel and hoe. It was both a pretty and suggestive symbol.

Any man who could look upon the group of gentlemen and ladies upon the platform and not have hope in the future of the State and be proud of her representative officials and men of learning is unworthy the State.

President Jones at the close of an orchestral selection stepped to the front and in a few words introduced the first speaker of the evening,

WILLIAM EDWARD BARNEY

Of the School of Agriculture, who read an essay entitled "The Germ Theory of Disease." It was an exceedingly scientific treatment of a difficult subject and reflected much credit upon the writer. It was attentively listened to and well received by the large audience.

MISS BLANCHE DAVIS.

The next number on the programme was an essay entitled "Growth of Poetry in America" by Miss Blanche Davis of the Liberal Arts. Miss Davis is the first young lady to receive a degree from the University of Nevada. The admirable way in which she treated her subject showed that her knowledge of the classics and of literature was worthy an older writer. Her words were well chosen and the style of the essay most excellent. The University may rest assured that Miss Davis, will prove an honor to the institution. The reading of the essay was faultless and it was received with warm applause. The large number of floral pieces of which she was the recipient, only attest to the real popularity of the Liberal Arts' first lady graduate.

ALBERT MOSES LEWERS.

After a selection by the orchestra Mr. Albert Moses Lewers took as the topic for a well written essay, "Mining." Mr. Lewers is a graduate of the School of Mines and his profound knowledge of the subject spoke volumes for the instruction that must have been given in the course as a foundation for so scientific a treatment of the subject. He reviewed the mining history of Nevada, and it was heartily appreciated by all.

FREDRICK STADTMULLER.

Fredrick Stadtmuller of the School of Agricultural read an essay, "The Nutritive Value of Foods." The treatment of the subject evinced a deep study on his part. Mr. Stadtmuller has given special attention to the study of chemistry and the treatment of his subject was from a chemical standpoint. It was well received.

The orchestra then rendered one of their favorite selections.

Judge Bigelow of the Supreme Court of Nevada, who had been invited to deliver the annual address to the graduates next followed. Judge Bigelow was a most happy selection, and, as an old resident of Nevada, was well equipped to address words of advice, counsel and wisdom to the young men and women who step forth and at no distant day must take up the active responsibility of citizens of their native State. Judge Bigelow is a pleasing speaker and delivered an address that was a rich literary treat.

Following came a selection by the orchestra and then the conferring of the degrees.

At the close of the exercises all the friends of the several graduates went upon the platform to offer the usual congratulations.

The exercises as a whole were as successful as any in the history of the University. The only incident to mar the exercises was the ebullitions of some of the under graduates, who indulged in some pranks that would have been better seen at some other place than during the progress of a speaker's remarks.

Many hearts were made happy. The young graduates with hearts full of hope and the consciousness of being possessed of a good education stepped forth to take up the battles of life in the Battle Born State. The parents and friends were equally rejoiced at the successes, and no day in the lifetime of a person is fraught with more pleasant memories than the day upon which they graduate, for the sadness of parting from friends and associates is forgotten in the bright hopes of the future. May this increasing army go marching on. Each year will add to this educated army, whose power in this State will be more subtle than armed men. The old world builds permanency on a standing army in whose hands are placed the rifle. America builds permanency on men armed not with rifles but intelligence. Such is the work being daily carried on to which our attention has been called by the pleasant exercises just rendered by Nevada's representative education institution, the State University.

Beautiful Hands!

Are what every lady is anxious to possess. Now, there is a secret that has never been revealed to the world, and that is, the sure way to possess these hands of beauty. Use MOLLINE. A proved success. This discovery was made by a graduate of London England college and a learned chemist. The horrors of the kitchen is no more a worry to the housewife. No matter how stained and grimmy the hands may be, one application of the wonderful MOLLINE will leave them as soft and white as if no kitchen work had been done. "Dearie's" Innocent Prattle.

An exceedingly pretty and graceful young woman and a little girl of perhaps five years of age, boarded a Tremont street electric yesterday afternoon, and the car being nearly empty walked up to the forward end and took a seat where the young miss could watch the motorman twist and untwist the brake and turn on and off the electric current.

She watched him with the deepest interest for a long time, and when the car started without the aid of horses, or any visible signs of power, she became deeply perplexed.

"Mamma," she said, "what makes this car go?"

"This is an electric, dearie. Electricity makes it go."

"Mamma," said the little miss, after a long silence. "we learn more'n and more'n every day, don't we?"

"Yes, dearie," mamma answered, with a far away look in her eyes.

"Did you pass that bad quarter on the conductor?" dearie queried after that individual had just gone by collecting the fares. Every person in the car heard her and tried hard not to smile.

"Papa said if the conductor wouldn't take it you could pass it in the contribution box next Sunday. Could you do that, mamma?"

Mamma signaled the conductor just then. As they were getting off dearie was telling mamma that those three red haired women were awfully homely, and when the car started off again the red haired women blushed even redder than their hair, and a strange, undefinable constraint pervaded the car until the last red haired woman had got off, which was somewhere near the end of the route.—Boston Herald.

Taking Advantage of the Year.

Over the line in Paulding, Ga., there lived a widow whose name, we believe, was Brown But it is not Brown now. She is there no more, nor is she a widow any more forever. She was fat and fair, but not forty. About three weeks ago there came along a middle aged widower of fine mien and prepossessing appearance. Ostensibly he stopped for a drink of water at the well. The widow, in the goodness of heart, kindly gave him the water. Her looks pleased him, and at once to business he went. Neither one ever saw the other before. He asked her if she was married. She told him no, that she was a lone widow.

Whereupon he informed her that he was a widower hunting for a wife. "Yes, sir! walk in." Here we drop the curtain. In her own language, however, we give the result· "It is sufficient to say this is leap year, you know, and at 8 o'clock that night we 'twain were made one.' We fixed it all right there and then."

Tomorrow she leaves for his home. Where it is or what sort it is or whether he has one, she knoweth not. She says "marriage is a lottery anyhow." She was on our streets yesterday as gay as a lark. Now, who can beat a widow "for business" when she is in dead earnest?—Atlanta Constitution

Female Jesters.

Nothing better illustrates the dullness of society in the Middle Ages than the custom used by all high placed and wealthy persons of keeping a professional jester, nor was it confined to Christendom, for we read that Cortez found an individual of this profession at the court of Montezuma. Our modern clowns, though very different from the licensed jesters of old, owe to them, of course, their origin; but, so far as I know, the female jester, who was in vogue before the male, has no present representative.

We are told by Erasmus that in all the great inns on the Continent there was in his time a female official of this description, who enlivened the company as she waited at table by witticisms and repartee. It should be added, however, that she was generally young and pretty. So late as 1858, we read in Mrs. Hornby's "Travels" that she found a female jester at Constantinople, who was exceedingly amusing.—London Illustrated News.

It is asserted that when the present comprehensive plan of connecting all England's West India possessions by submarine cable is completed fully one-third of her defensive fleet for the protection of these colonies can be done away with.

A hot bath is valuable in the first stages of congestion of the lungs, as it is also in infantile convulsions and in sudden brain trouble. In the last named attack ice should be applied to the head and a hot water bag to the feet.

Funnyman's Misadventure.

Funnyman (finishing his story)—Ha, ha, ha! Amusing, isn't it? Well, goodby, they say it's wise to leave at once after you've said a good thing, you know.

Amiable Hostess—Oh, you are not going yet, are you, Mr. Funnyman?—Kate Field's Washington.

Grandpa was a fine-looking young fellow then, so the old ladies say, and he is a fine-looking old gentleman now. For the past score of years he has been a firm believer in the merits of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. "It renewed my youth," he frequently says. It is the only blood-purifier and liver invigorator guaranteed to benefit or cure, or money promptly refunded. "August Flower"

Dyspepsia. There is a gentleman at Malden-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., named Captain A. G. Pareis, who has written us a letter in which it is evident that he has made up his mind concerning some things, and this is what he says:

"I have used your preparation called August Flower in my family for seven or eight years. It is constantly in my house, and we consider it the best remedy for Indigestion, and Constipation we Indigestion. have ever used or known. My wife is troubled with Dyspepsia, and at times suffers very much after eating. The August Flower, however, relieves the difficulty. My wife frequently says to me when I am going to town, 'We are out Constipation of August Flower, and I think you had better get another bottle.' I am also troubled with Indigestion, and whenever I am, I take one or two teaspoonfuls before eating, for a day or two, and all trouble is removed."

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE STATE of Nevada, in and for the County of Washoe.—In the matter of the estate of John Singleton, deceased.

PUSSY WANTS A CORNER.

This life is like a monstrous plank
Out in midocean sailing,
All crowded full of living men,
And ne'er a foot of railing.

There all are struggling for the best,
And each one to his notion;
In this great struggle often some
Are pushed off in the ocean.

And some will find the lucky plum,
Like little Jackey Horner;
Some always struggle for a place,
"For pussy wants a corner!"

Some have the claws to hold on tight,
However rough the sailing,
And hold the plank through all the fight
With ne'er a foot of railing.

Some things are very light to bear,
As light as ocean bubbles;
To bear with greatest fortitude,
'Tis other people's troubles.

Some get a very liberal streak,
Though you may deem it funny;
'Tis very easy to be free
With other people's money.

We often get the lucky plum
Through some poor brother's sorrow;
The failure he endures today
Brings you success tomorrow.

'Tis such a complicated world,
Where you and I are staying,
We feel inclined to think a bit;
Now, brethren, let's be praying.

Oh, you, who've found the lucky plum,
Like little Jackey Horner,
Make room for some poor starving one—
"Poor pussy wants a corner!"

—M. A. Suttin in New York Sun.

A Story of General Grant.

I once heard, with reverence and with misty eyes, the story of General Grant's return from the last brief journey he ever took from the cottage on Mount Macgregor. The general had a favorite walking stick, without which he never went abroad, even on his drives, and his walking stick had its own place in the corner of his room; no hand but his own ever put it there or took it thence. Day after day the journey from his chair to that corner before he set forth, from the corner to his chair after his return and the replacement of the stick in its place, grew more difficult to the general's nerveless and weary feet.

And there came that day at last when, on coming in, he glanced toward the corner, stood for a moment silently, waveringly, a little quiver on the brave and steadfast lips; and then, with a gesture which was a wordless renunciation of life and all its dear associations, he opened his tremulous hand and let the old stick drop from it to the floor at his feet. It was but a few days later that he entered with a soldier's courage the shadowy valley of the journey through which David said, "Thy rod, thy staff, they comfort me."—Dorothy Lundt in Boston Commonwealth.

Must Have Their Sea Legs On.

"I tell you it requires a good deal of practice to be able to stand in the cab of a rapid running passenger train and fire the coal into the firebox," said a West Penn employee, in speaking of the risks run by trainmen. "The engine rocks, sways and fairly jumps at times under his feet, and if the fireman doesn't mind his p's and q's he is liable to lose his balance and be flung from the rapid gaited train. This is more especially the case in rounding a curve, where, if the balance is lost, the fireman may be hurled from the train. I remember a case in point which happened a comparatively short time ago on the Fort Wayne. A fireman was flung from his engine one dark night as the train was rushing along. Of course he was soon missed and a search made. He was found, and, wonderful to say, was not seriously injured."—Pittsburg Post.

Home Influence Felt in School.

If the home do its work well, the task of the teacher and the school is comparatively easy; but there are too many American families, as every teacher knows, where this work has not been done, and where, consequently, much effort has to be spent in supplementing the lack of skill or the foolish indulgence of the mother. When a little six-year-old girl on her first day at school tries to strike her teacher over the head with her heavy slate because she is told to do some little thing, we may not unreasonably assume that that home has failed of its purpose, if indeed it ever had any.—Anna C. Brackett in Harper's.

Naval Tactics.

Admiral Sir Edmund Fremantle relates a story of a Yankee who was giving his experience of what had happened in the American civil war. He had been in command of a turret ship. A lady said to him, "Oh, no doubt, you always were inside the turret." "No, ma'am," he replied, "I was not inside the turret." "Oh, really," she said, "then where did you get to?" "Well," was the reply, "we were generally attacking forts, and I got on the lee side of the turret so as to have two thicknesses of armor to protect me instead of one."

A Good Reason.

Little Boy—Can your sister play?

Little Girl—No; she makes awful noises w'en she tries.

Little Boy—Then wot did your papa get her a piano for?

Little Girl—I dunno. I guess it was 'cause he wanted zee box for a coal bin. —Good News.

A man named Clemmer, residing in or near Reading, Pa., has made over 300 clay idols, which he keeps in and about his house. At set times he worships these gods of his own manufacture with idolatrous devotion.

"Caleb Cushing would go into the street and ask information of the shabbiest negro, if in that way he could learn what he wished to know," said one who was associated with him in Washington.
